and of your Zeal to maintain the Honour and true Intereſt of this Kingdom.

The Spirit and Reſolution you have ſhewn on this important Occaſion, when our moſt valuable Rights and Privileges have been ſtruck at, are highly becoming the Weight and Authority of a Britiſh Parliament; and the Steps which have been taken Abroad in Support of the Meaſures entred into againſt this Nation, muſt convince every body of your Wiſdom and Prudence in endeavouring to put an early Stop to the farther Progreſs of them. I hope the Precautions you have enabled me to take will be ſufficient, in Conjunction with my Allies, to defeat the Deſigns which have been formed againſt Us; and that the Promoters of them, when they have fully weighed their own Circumſtances, and better conſidered thoſe of the ſeveral Powers united in Defence of the Tranquility and Liberties of Europe, will find it their own Intereſt to preſerve the Peace, and think it moſt ſafe and prudent to deſiſt from their dangerous Schemes.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I return you my particular Thanks for the Supplies, which you have ſo chearfully and effectually raiſed, and you may be aſſured that they ſhall be faithfully applied to the Uſes for which you intended them.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The conſtant Employment of my Thoughts, and the moſt earneſt Wiſhes of my Heart, tend wholly to the ſecuring to my Subjects their juſt Rights and Advantages, and to the preſerving to them, and to all Europe, the Enjoyment of a ſafe and honourable Peace. And I muſt not conclude without giving you the ſtrongeſt Aſſurances, that the particular Confidence you have placed in me, ſhall be made Uſe of in ſuch Manner only as may moſt effectually conduce to the attaining thoſe good and great Purpoſes.

And then the Lord Chancellour, by His Majeſty's Command, ſaid,

My Lords and Gentlemen,

IT is His Majeſty's Royal Will and Pleaſure, That this Parliament be Prorogued to Thurſday the Twenty Firſt Day of July next, to be then here held; And this Parliament is accordingly Prorogued to Thurſday the Twenty Firſt Day of July next.
